CABIN FEVER

Pictures by David Keeney, Marion, TE

"To the casual passerby the little log cabin across the road from Blaker's Mill is just another shabby little log cabin, a reminder of a day long past. To those who know its history, it is a symbol of faith, courage and romance of a young couple numbered among the first permanent settlers who established a home in the wilderness of the Muddy Creek Valley. It is also a link between the history of the Greenbrier Valley and that of the Kanawha Valley. 'The cabin with the tiny windows, rock chimney and small stairway which leads to a loft room, is the three section log house built nearly 200 years ago by Michael Keeney, one of the earliest settlers. It was to this home that Michael took his bride, Catherine Lewis, known to her family and friends as Katie.' (from Alderson News) Katie was born about 1759 on a pioneer farm on the Cowpasture River in Bath Co., VA. Her parents, John and Mary McCrerry Lewis, brought her to the big levels in Greenbrier. Her father was a relative of Gen. Andrew Lewis, who was a veteran of the Battle of Point Pleasant. Her mother was a sister of Andrew Donally, who built Fort Donally and was an early JP in Kanawha County. They were married January 11, 1791 by Elder John Alderson of the Old Greenbrier Baptist Church. Michael's land, along with that of his brother John, extended from the mouth of Mill Creek to the foothills of Keeney Mountain, which bore the family name. John's land also was the site of Fort Arbuckle, offering some protection from the Indians. In 1790 Michael became ill and died, leaving Katie a widow with 4 children. The oldest was 9. Michael, however, had left her in good circumstances. After 3 years of widowhood, Katie wedded William Hilliard, who had been one of the 26 men who had aided Col. George Clendenin in the establishment of Fort Lee, which became Charleston. With the children, Katie and her new husband traveled by horseback to Teays Valley, now Putnam County, where they started a new home. What happened to the cabin? It is still there, as pictured just a few weeks ago. The Blaker's Mill, however, is being moved to a state park. The owner of the cabin and land lives in Delaware and the caretaker is Mr. Gene Hanna, a friendly custodian. Contact, has been made with Mr. Blaker concerning the future disposition of the cabin. Watch for details.

WILLIAM S. KEENEY FAMILY

WILLIAM S. KEENEY was the oldest son of Moses Walls Keeney (1797-1890) and Mary D. Huff. He was born, raised and lived on Cabin Creek. This update comes mostly from obituaries and Kanawha County birth/death records. It is believed that the family ran a boarding house (club house) for miners at Eskdale. His brothers and sisters were John H. Keeney (1829), Joseph R. Keeney (1832), Moses Walls Keeney, Jr. (1835), Thomas C. (Washington) Keeney (1837), Harrison Columbus Keeney (1840) Frances A. (Fannie) Keeney (1842) and Caroline V. Keeney Batten (1845).

Anyone know these Keeneys? Blind Hitchhikers Make It To Shrine

Oneonta, NY AP, Roger and Penny Keeney wanted to get to the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown and they didn't let the Greyhound bus strike slow them down.

Roger Keeney is legally blind and his wife, Penny is totally blind.

Traveling Tuesday the 60 miles from Ithaca, they were able to get as far as Oneonta by bus. But they learned they couldn't get a bus from there north to Cooperstown 28 miles away until the next morning.

So they decided to hitchhike the rest of the way.

Someone reported them to Oneonta police as "suspicious characters" but police questioned the Keeneys and let them go on their way.

They made it to Cooperstown getting rides from three different motorists.

Roger Keeney wanted to update the Hall of Fame exhibit on "beep-ball".

That's a special version of softball played by sightless people. They use a ball and two bases that have electronic devices to sound a beeping tone.

Keeney says the exhibit is due to open in the spring.
